

David Bergstone is Director of Architecture at Old Salem Museums & Gardens, where he directs the research and restoration of the historic buildings in Old Salem. He received architectural training and has undergraduate degree in Art History from the University of Southern California, and has a Master's degree in Historic Preservation Planning from Cornell University. He has served as a staff and member of Historic District Commissions in both North Carolina and Missouri, where he was involved with compatible infill design and historic rehabilitations. He has a strong interest in compatible and sustainable designs that support community character.