

Larry Snively is an architect and a principal of Acanthus Architecture, PA in Winston-Salem. He was appointed to the CAC in 2005 and has served as chair of the Technical Advisory and Plan Review Committee (TAPR) for much of his tenure. He holds degrees from the University of Virginia and Princeton University.