CONFORMITY TO PLANS

Relevant Comprehensive Plan Recommendation(s): There are several policies in Legacy that are relevant to the petitioner’s rezoning request such as encouraging infill development within the municipal services area and designing the infill development to be compatible with the character of the surrounding area. Legacy also proposes that we focus commercial activity in compact, walkable mixed-use developments with streets and highways that are safe, effective vehicular traffic movers, and accommodate pedestrians and bicyclists. Finally, Legacy calls for environmentally sensitive development which respects natural areas and enhances the quality of our built environment.

Relevant Development Guide Recommendation(s): The Country Club/Jonestown Area Plan took a detailed look at the area around the intersection of Peace Haven and Country Club Roads. The plan calls for commercial on the front part of the site along Country Club Road and low and moderate density residential development for the remainder of the site.

ANALYSIS

This request is to amend the previously approved site plan for a PB-S zoned tract of land. Proposed site plan changes include relocating and configuring vehicular access and commercial structures within the proposed mixed use development. The currently approved site plan consists of a well-defined and integrated mixture of retail commercial, office, and residential townhome uses in pedestrian-oriented setting. The current and proposed site plans show several commercial and office structures totaling 106,650 sf. and 42,000 sf (42 units) of residential townhomes oriented toward Peace Haven Road. The property is generally located in the southeast quadrant of the intersection of Country Club and Peace Haven Roads.

Specifically, the request consists of changing the previously approved realignment of Vinegar Hill Road back to its current intersection location with Country Club Road and the reorientation of various commercial structures which, under the currently approved site plan, form a well-defined gateway entrance into a development from Country Club Road. Otherwise, there are no proposed changes to previously approved building square footages, mixture of uses, or special use district conditions.

According to the petitioner, the proposed amendment is requested in response to the recent demise of the owner of a life estate which was part of the original PB-S zoning tract. In this regard, the residential structure which previously blocked the southern extension of Vinegar Hill Road directly across Country Club Road no longer remains as a physical impediment. Unlike the previously approved site plan, which realigns Vinegar Hill Road approximately 120 feet east of its current location, the new plan now shows Vinegar Hill Road crossing Country Club Road at its present location.

The proposed intersection changes also involve a shift in the location and orientation of various buildings which were part of the original site plan concept. Whereas the currently approved plan shows commercial structures framing both sides of the main entrance drive into the development, the new plan does not. Also, a courtyard space which formed a terminal vista at the end of the entrance drive as reflected in the original plan is absent in the current site plan proposal.

With respect to both the realignment of Vinegar Hill Road and the reorientation of buildings, Planning staff is concerned that the new plan does not address specific site plan objectives and preferences as well as the current approved plan. By placing the Vinegar Hill Road back to its current location, and closer to the intersection with Country Club Road, staff believes that traffic congestion may not be handled as effectively. Staff also believes that the revised plan fails to achieve the same level of architectural definition and pedestrian character as the original courtyard concept which oriented toward Country Club Road. In this regard, both the architectural character and relocation of Vinegar Hill Road were emphasized to both the Planning Board and Board of Aldermen as “selling points” for the original site plan and PB-S special use district rezoning.

Subsequent to the Planning Board Meeting the developer continues to work with Winston-Salem Department of Transportation officials to address the above mentioned traffic concerns. According to the petitioner’s traffic engineering consultant, anticipated traffic impacts of the development will not be worsened by the relocating Vinegar Hill Road back to its current location. These findings, however, have yet to be confirmed by City and State transportation officials.

Given the complexity and controversy surrounding the original zoning, and the community’s expectation for a quality, pedestrian-oriented, mixed use development at this key location, Planning staff is of the opinion that any amendment should be at least as good as the original site plan. Unless and until such a plan is presented staff believes that the current approved plan should not be altered.

FINDINGS

1. The proposed site plan amendment is to modify a previously approved site plan for a PB-S zoned, mixed use development.

2. The proposed amendment is requested in response to the recent demise of the owner of a life estate which was part of the original PB-S zoning tract.

3. The request consists of changing the previously approved realignment of Vinegar Hill Road back to its current intersection location with Country Club Road and the reorientation of various commercial structures within the development.
4. Staff is of the opinion that the proposed site plan may not address traffic issues as the original plan and that new building orientations do not achieve the same level of pedestrian character as the original plan.

5. Staff is of the opinion that support for any new plan must be on the basis that it is as good as or better than the original concept.

PUBLIC HEARING

There was some discussion about the possible traffic stacking and other traffic problems and whether this new plan would be better for traffic.

FOR:

Scott Bortz, Tribek Properties, 200 Providence Rd. Suite 106, Charlotte, NC 28207

He has come today to submit the same plan that was submitted before. It has the same entrance into the mixed use center with buildings framing the entrance, same architectural character and elements, same uses, same square footage, an approved building layout on the Vinegar Hill side of the road, same traffic generation, improved pedestrian connectivity and safety and a traffic signal installation, similar to what they had before. One of the reasons that he is here, is because the majority land owner passed away between the time they received rezoning approval and today. (Pointed out where the decedents home was.) She was to remain in a Life Estate on the property and one of the reasons that they needed to relocate Vinegar Hill Road was to work around her home site.
It was an uncomfortable issue to bring up during the zoning approval process because it concerned her life and she was 96 years old and they felt that it was best not to make that one of the selling points, but just to touch on it and say that they were going to realign Vinegar Hill Road. With her passing, the need to relocate that road an issue, no longer required. The relocation costs of this road are substantial. More importantly, under the approved site plan, they have one main entrance off of Country Club Road. DOT asked them, under the old plan, to widen the entry way by 10 feet, to go from 24 feet to 34 feet. It doesn't sound like a lot, but what it does is it shrinks down the sidewalk capabilities, shrinks down the area for outdoor dining and we really wanted to promote some outdoor seating, where it gets to be pedestrian visible from the road and people can say that this is an active place to be. With the widening, we feel that the integrity is suffered. What they have done with the new plan is they created their main street, their pedestrian flow, on the eastern side access road. That allows the main entrance to still exist and keeps the pedestrians from feeling like they are running against cars. This road will only service Old Country Club Road, which is a very, very less intensively used road. They have provided on street parking at these two buildings in the new plan, which they were unable to do in the old plan. Once again, this promotes pedestrian connectivity and it allows them to feel that they are on a main street. They have the wide side walks installed again and as a bonus they have created two court yard plazas. In the original plan, they had one terminus plaza. Now there are two plazas. These are areas where they can entertain and have outdoor social gatherings. They copied parts of this plan from a project in Charlotte. Another issue is traffic. Glenn Simmons had raised the question earlier did these changes to our plan effect the traffic flow and traffic generation. Mr. Bortz stated that he has a new report that says that by shifting the main entrance to the west by 100 feet, there is no impact what-so-ever on the traffic flow. By making some minor signal improvements or adjustments (such as providing a protected, permissive phasing, which not only allows people to take a left at Peace Haven when there is a left turn arrow, but allows them to take a left when the light is green). There is no impact what-so-ever in traffic generation. All of the original selling points still remain. Legacy is evident throughout this plan with the buildings fronting the streets and the uses allowing all components of life in one plan. The traffic analysis proves that there are no traffic generation differences. The parcel across the street has been pushed against the road, which gives a clear definition of building straight through the project.

AGAINST: None

Philip Doyle asked about DOT making them add 10 feet onto their entrance.

Mr. Bortz stated that with there being one entrance point into and out of the Country Club Road side of the property, DOT's concern was that they needed to have a left turn lane to allow people out of this project as opposed to just one lane in and one lane out. Initially they asked for 12 additional feet and they were disturbed about the DOT requested that additional feet, so they talked them down to 10 feet. That affects the sidewalk widths and their ability to handle the pedestrian flow that they are expecting to be generated from across the street.
Glenn Simmons stated that both the proposed plan and the plan that was approved by the Board of Aldermen, show three lanes. It shows one lane in and two lanes out. Is there something different from that?

Mr. Bortz stated that there are three lanes in both plans, what he is saying that he has taken the pedestrian flow and putting them on the eastern side access road.

Philip Doyle stated asked him when the width that DOT had asked for change?

Doug Stimmel, 305 W. Fourth Street, Suite 1-A, Winston-Salem, NC 27101 was in the audience and stated that in the original plan they had 24 feet. Right before the first Planning Board Hearing and during the time that Greg Turner was looking at it, he requested that instead of having it 24 feet wide, they would have 36 feet wide. So, it actually occurred during the process the first time around.

Arnold King asked what it was in this current proposed plan?

Doug Stimmel stated that it has to be 36 in this plan.

Philip Doyle stated that this bothered him because he felt like DOT was saying that they did not care about the pedestrians and that they don't care how much everyone else feels about the pedestrian friendly planning.

Kerry Avant stated that one thing that strikes him is the issue of how the buildings are oriented on the first plan, vs. how they are oriented on this plan, probably is pretty subjective to an opinion of which one you think looks better or not. That first one was very impressive and the pictures they showed were very impressive. The thing that strikes him is by making that pedestrian oriented corridor between those two buildings under the first plan, it was right at the entrance off of Country Club Road, and to him, this plan is better with regards to that entrance. Even when they approved it the first time, it looked great, but there was always a concern that in reality, it was going to be wider than what that picture showed and there was always going to be conflict between the automobile and the pedestrian. The one thing that this plan does do, is it gives that pedestrian corridor that will probably be less traveled a place to function so that people can come from across the street and come down the side walk and have some peace and quiet in an area that is kind of set aside as a pedestrian oriented shopping area. That is one thing about it that feels better and the traffic flow/circulation feels better. He felt that the new site plan offers more activity area for the pedestrians than the first one did because while the fountain and all of that was nice, he was not so sure that with all of the cars having to come through there, that it was not going to create somewhat of a bottleneck. It may have worked out fine, but he really felt that they would end up with a lot of conflict between pedestrian and automobile that he does not feel there will be as much of with the new plan.
Jerry Clark asked if there were not two other areas that you could come into this development?

Mr. Bortz stated that there was an entrance off of Peace Haven.

Glenn Simmons added that the entrance off of Peace Haven was only right in, right out, so it is just a partial entrance.

WORK SESSION

Philip Doyle made a comment on the traffic report, we have this requirement for traffic studies and one of the things that they had to buy into was if they require it, we have to buy into it. This engineer says that traffic is not a factor and even though you can look at it and say its 100 feet closer to Peace Haven, there has to be some type of factor, then maybe that is what Greg Turner is saying, is that he is not buying it. There has to be some kind of factor because it is closer. We bought off on this process of using the engineers and if he says that it is no factor...unless we want to do away with that requirement and go back to the old way if we are getting bogus reports, let's do away with this traffic report requirement.

Kerry Avant stated that it seems like an added feature to this site plan is by not realigning Vinegar Hill that staff felt that created a better situation with the drug store or whatever it is going there. Is that what staff believes to be true.

Glenn Simmons stated that there is a better orientation with the drug store. However, staff believes that the original plan is better with respect to the overall pedestrian character of the plan with the court facing County Club Road.

Arnold King stated that he felt this was not a bait and switch site amendment change. It is something that happened, so now they don't have to move the road. Provided that the traffic study is accurate...if Greg Turner has problems with that, we will hear about it before it gets to the Aldermen.

Glenn Simmons stated that he did not mean to suggest that Greg Turner didn't agree with this, he just did not have enough information yesterday to make any determination.

Arnold King stated that based on the traffic study and comments that staff has made about this improving interior traffic circulation, and putting it on the north side seems to be better, it seems like everything else in the write up was pretty positive, other than the subjective feeling that maybe it didn't look quite as good, I would still move approval of the revised site plan.
MOTION: Arnold King moved approval of the revised site plan.
